

ABSTRACT

5 This invention relates to metallocene catalyst compositions which are highly active for the polymerization of olefins, particularly prochiral α -olefins. The catalyst compositions contain at least one metallocene, and least one activator and a support that has been fluorided using a fluoride containing compound.

10073839.024102